

Summer Tourist Season Outlook Good, Despite Defense Economy

The outlook for the summer tourist season in Michigan is good despite the country's defense economy, according to Robert J. Furlong, Executive Secretary of the State Tourist Council.

"Barring unreasonable weather, Michigan's tourist industry will continue to maintain its position in the top bracket of the state's income producers," said Furlong.

He pointed out that there is no indication at this time that rigid restrictions will be placed on recreational travel during the summer tourist season. Authorities agree, he said, that ample supplies of gasoline and tires will be available for civilian use this year.

Furlong mentioned other factors which point to a successful year for Michigan's tourist industry. Estimates of some of the nation's top economists reveal that consumer expenditures for travel and recreation in 1951 may be 5 to 10 per cent above those of 1950. "Michigan's established position among the country's leading tourist states means that once again we will get a big share of those expenditures," said the Tourist Council official.

Management, labor, government and public health authorities are agreed that the vacation payment programs of industry must continue, even in an emergency, if peak production levels are to be maintained. Furlong added that today nine out of ten job holders in America are covered by some type of vacation payment plan.

Any cutbacks in the availability of durable goods will tend to increase the amount of money spent for travel, according to Furlong. He reported that consumer incomes and purchasing power are at the new high levels despite a rise in taxes. With less money spent for durable goods, more money will be available for recreation. This was the experience in the immediate post war years when the tourist business reached unprecedented peaks.

There are some who predict that 1951 may see a trend toward brief but more frequent vacations. "Here again," said Furlong, "Michigan is in an enviable position. Our nearness to the nation's center of population gives our state an inside track. Tourists from the metropolitan areas of our neighboring states can reach Michigan's vacationland in a matter of hours, thus cutting their travel time considerably."

Furlong continued that this year Michigan is better equipped than ever before to entertain vacationists. For the past several months there has been a general improvement and expansion program carried out throughout the tourist and resort industry.

He concluded that although prices of many commodities have risen in recent months, in the tourist industry prices generally will remain at their 1949-50 levels. "Some of the best buys on the market this year will be in travel and recreation."

Sportsman's Club News

From all reports trout fishing season opened and that is about all. Catches of two and three were very common as were pike at all. High water filled with plenty of food seemed to be the comments of most.

Smelt fishing was a little different. If it's proof you want ask one of the following: Bob Meeker, Vince Vincent, Bob Dean, Earl Hubbell, Cy Luckstead, Del Wheeler, Roger Kneff or yours truly. This may be too late for this year but if any of you should ever go smelt fishing with Vince be sure to take along a straight jacket and coil of heavy rope to hog-tie him or you'll never get him out of the river once the fish start to run.

"Keep your eye peeled for the new sign that is going to grace the highway on the south side of town. It will be a recreation directory showing all the points of interest from the railroad tracks to the Pines and from the Manistee to Stephens Bridge. The sign is 10 feet by 24 feet and is to be painted by a professional artist. It was donated to the Sportsman's Club by George Olson and the mason it being used on the sign was donated by the Grayling Lumber and Supply Company. If you see a fellow running up and down main street with a card about two feet long with a lot of lines and printing on it don't be alarmed. It's just Casey putting his all against the wheel not just his shoulder.

Now is the time to think about those camp fires that we're going to be building; make sure they're out.

The department of conservation forestry division will hold an auction for the cutting of timber at the 18th forest headquarters. Information as to the kinds and amount can be had by calling the headquarters office. Fine catches of suckers have been reported from the outlet of Lake Margrethe, some over five pounds being quite common.

Remember the next meeting of the club, May 16th in the basement of the Legion Hall. Will you be there?

Ted.

Extend Cancer Drive 2 Weeks

With approximately 40 per cent of Crawford County's quota raised to date, Commander Mrs. Emma VonMach announced that efforts will be increased to reach the county's goal of $250.00 within the next two weeks. The drive originally scheduled to close April 30, has been extended in this county to give organizations and willing subscribers more time in which to complete their transactions.

In our Michigan Division headquarters at Grand Rapids, of which this county is a part, it was reported that a total of 39 counties out of 80 have reported 45% of the quota filled.

Our Michigan Division campaign, of course, is part of the nationwide effort of the American Cancer Society to finance its program of research, education and service to cancer patients, Commander Mrs. VonMach stated.

Scientists using your money are laboring heroically to gain more information about the causes of cancer and to perfect new methods for its detection, treatment and cure. Thanks to the public generosity, heretofore, much important knowledge has been gained. Cancers of several types can be cured if detected and treated properly in time.

Although there are 16 special cancer hospitals in the U. S. A. and 151 cancer detection centers approved by the American College of Surgeons and also 568 approved cancer treatment and diagnostic clinics, there is a need for one within a radius of 30 to 50 miles from each patient.

There is a need right now for more people to take periodic medical examinations—yet one third of the 200,000 who died last year could have been saved if their cases were detected in time and promptly treated.

Mrs. VonMach would like to have it understood that she hopes to present information as to detection centers hereabouts and how our own particular fund may be beneficially used for our own Crawford County patients.

Mrs. Emma Von Mach,
Commander Crawford
County Cancer Fund.

Michigan Democrats are stunned at the appointment of Blair Moody, Washington news correspondent, by Governor C. Mennen Williams, to fill the late Senator Vandenberg's seat. Most of them had not even heard of the man who for 18 years had paid only occasional visits to his home state.

In his formal statement, Moody said, "We must be strong, as strong as we can make ourselves—in the same breath he warned against inflation, 'impaired by the very process of making ourselves strong.'"

Republicans remained cautious. Politically he is an unknown quantity. Senator Homer Ferguson said carefully, that he is a personal friend of Moody's but that they often had "differed politically."

And while the MacArthur controversy rages up and down the nation, selective service boards are in a tizzy. The draft quotas have been cut—again—the Reds break through may jump the quotas—again—and now doctors—again—are on the draft list.

Civilian defense plans go ahead. Now the civilian defense council battles for bottles of blood. Says director, Brig. Gen. Lester J. "Mallard," we are spending the $50,000 given us last year to make the blood types. It will be a waste of money if we don't have bottles in which to keep the blood. National production of the containers is rapidly being gobbled up.

Meanwhile a regional civilian defense official says of the mock drill on the Soo: "The populace responded to the sirens like veterans of a London blitz. Nowhere were signs of panic or indifference. They knew it was coming."

The "Little Hoover" commission has attacked Michigan's red tape. The body has spoken, if vaguely, of a claimed saving of $114,790 already in the five departments studied.

I'll match my Dodge with any car on the road for
Value and Dependability

—says MICHAEL OPPENHEIM

"Sure, I've owned and driven other make cars," says Michael Oppenheim, Bellerose, N.Y. "But since 1941 my cars have all been Dodges. I know how dependable Dodge cars are, how little they cost to run."

You could pay up to $1,000 more and not get all the extra room, comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

Compare what Dodge gives you with what other cars offer. You'll understand why Dodge owners say they'll match Dodge with any car on the road.

Take riding comfort for example. You could pay far more for a car and still not get the almost unbelievable smoothness of the new Oriflow ride. Even on roughest roads there's no wheel "hop" or bounce.

You get the relaxing comfort of extra head room, leg room and shoulder room... the safety of "Watchtower" visibility. Dodge Gyro-Matic—the lowest priced automatic transmission—lets you drive without shifting. See and drive Dodge today.

You Can Help

In outlining how individuals can aid in the national security program, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says:

"Espionage may be generally defined as the obtaining of confidential information regarding the national defense and furnishing it to unauthorized persons to the detriment of the United States or the advantage of a foreign power.

"Sabotage is any act designed to destroy or damage national defense materials—to impede production, injure plant premises, to destroy public utilities, or to produce defective national defense goods.

"Under the term 'subversive activities' would be activities on the part of any individual or organization which are intended to forcibly overthrow the American government or to give aid to its enemies.

"The public should be alert to report all information directly to the FBI which relates to the following specific matters: 1. Allegations of espionage, sabotage, or subversive activities. 2. Foreign submarine landings. 3. Suspicious parachute landings. 4. Possession and distribution of foreign-inspired propaganda. 5. Theft or unauthorized possession or purchase of large quantities of firearms, ammunition or explosives, or short-wave transmitters and receivers. 6. Poisoning of public water supplies. 7. Chartering of airplanes for flights over restricted areas. 8. Fires and explosions of an unusual nature affecting any phase of the defense program. 9. Suspicious individuals loitering near restricted areas. 10. Possession of radio-active materials.

"The protection of the nation's internal security is a twofold responsibility. It must encompass not only the safeguarding of the nation's secrets and vital areas, but also guarantee that the civil liberties of the citizen himself will not be violated. Private citizens are warned against attempting to conduct their own investigations or engage in the circulation of malicious gossip.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

A display of fish and game birds to aid identification is one of the features of the Second Annual Michigan Conservation Field Day, to be staged in and around the Kingsley School Forest 18 miles south of Traverse City on Wednesday and Thursday, May 9 and 10. The first Field Day, held a year ago, attracted more than 4,000 persons and it is expected the crowd will be doubled this year.

So great is the demand for a return engagement of the Michigan Conservation Field Day, staged a year ago, that the second annual event will be repeated on Wednesday and Thursday, May 9 and 10, in the midst of several conservation projects one mile north of Kingsley on Highway 611.

This endeavor was started a year ago through the co-operation of the Kingsley Sportsmen's club, State Conservation Department, the Michigan State College Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service and other agencies. Harold Stinson of Kingsley is general chairman. More than two hundred and fifty groups are listed among those helping the promotion.

Behind the project is the objective of informing farmers, sportsmen and the general public how wild lands can be made valuable and useful, and sell the idea that everyone, regardless of who they are, has a big stake in conservation practices.

The two days will be devoted to scores of demonstrations, lectures and field trips. The whole program takes place out of doors.

Listed on the program are such items as replanting forests, how pines are produced and planted, encouragement of natural reproduction of forests, improvement methods for hardwood timber, management of pine plantations, forest diseases and insect pests, uses of native trees, game conditions and management, deer herd management, fur animals, fish, exhibit of Northern Michigan game birds, their recorded songs, types of out-door recreation, chemical aids of clearing land and controlling poison ivy, proper equipment and prevention of forest fires.

Each of these main program items will be broken down into demonstrations, lectures and exhibits. For instance, under timber uses, will be a demonstration of boat building. Camping for boys and adults will be demonstrated. Mosses and toadstools will come in for lecture session and wild flowers and the use of firearms are among the varied program numbers.

Thinning and pruning of all types of tree plantations will be shown together with various sorts of machinery useful in reforestation and fire fighting.

Over four thousand persons attended the Conservation Field Day a year ago and double that number is expected this year. Lunches will be available in the field.

Automobile experts are still estimating an output of 6,500,000 motor vehicles in Michigan this year. Naturally, the used car market is down.

Some 337,000 pheasant hunters (13 percent fewer than the previous year) last fall shot an estimated 797,500 ringnecks.

The collegiate basketball scandals lead us to believe that not dust affects the eyes as much as gold dust.

It surely was the height of something or other when a mother called the police department the other day to order a dozen prints of the picture of the officers had taken of her delinquent son.

At today's prices women's hats are no longer a laughing matter. The "man bites a dog" story has not been replaced by the one about the bull that threw the salesman.

People who went South for the winter really found it.

A meeting was held at the Beaver Creek Standard School, Thursday April 12, 1951 at which time a Parent-Teachers Association was formed. Mrs. Lyle Wilcox, of West Branch, District Director of the Michigan Congress of PTA, attended and helped organize. Mr. H. Russell, President and Mrs. Russell Moshier, Vice-President of the Grayling PTA were also guests for the evening.

A motion was made that Mrs. George F. Campbell act as President.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Wilcox. A social hour followed the business meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Heath, Mrs. W. H. Fairbotham, Mrs. Willard Dancer and Mrs. George F. Campbell.

The Michigan State Library wants its books back—15,000 of them. That number still is outstanding on loan since the state office building fire February 2.

Frank G. Millard, attorney general, says the federal constitution would not be violated by the proposed amendment to the state constitution providing for dismissal of a public official who refuses to testify about his official actions.

for over 1,500 deer as compared to the 12,000 who took 795 in 1949. Nonresident Robinhoods, 835 in number as compared to 668 before, bagged about 130 deer as compared to about 80 before. Bow and arrow hunters again showed most improvement, with one out of about every 10 scoring as compared to one out of about every 14 in 1949.

In the special western Michigan deer seasons, to reduce the herd and ease crop and orchard damage 2,186 deer were taken as compared to 4,157 in the 1949 fall special season.

Regional breakdown on the general firearm season showed 42.5 percent of the Michigan residents hunting in the upper peninsula to be successful, as against 41 percent before. About 97,400 upper peninsula deer seekers harvested 41,400 whitetails. Over 28 percent of the 259,500 northern lower peninsula hunters came home with deer, getting over 73,000 animals. The 1949 success ratio in this region was nearly 25 percent.

Approximately 13,000 hunters cropped roughly 1,800 deer in the southern third of the state, as compared to about 14,000 who shot about 960 before.

Non resident firearm deer hunters again had the best success ratio, with nearly 54 percent getting a deer as compared to about 49 percent the previous season.

Percentage of successful Michigan resident hunters was highest in Gogebic county, over 52 percent; most deer were shot in Roscommon county, 20,675.

Other leading counties in deer harvest: Montmorency, 4,883; Ontonagon, 4,732; Oscoda, 4,530; Lake, 4,462; Alcona, 4,133; Crawford, 4,052; Ogemaw, 4,031; Those with a kill over 3,000 were: Gogebic, Marquette, Isosco, Iron, Clare, Chippewa and Kalamazoo.
